DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-10 and 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kobata et al (U. S. Patent 6,673,456 B1).

Art Unit: 1794

Kobata et al disclose an interlayer comprising polyvinyl butyral resin, plasticizer, phosphate ester compound, acetylacetone and ITO particles having particle size of 35 nanometers, and the glass laminate with the interlayer (Example 1). Kobata et al also disclose claimed 2-ethylhexylic acid (i.e. 2-ethyl hexanoic acid) (Col. 11, lines 36-44). Kobata et al disclose surfactant such as sodium laurel sulfate (Col. 15, lines 55-57). Kobata et al do not specifically disclose claimed solubility parameter and claimed relative permittivity of surfactant. However Kobata et al disclose good humidity resistance of laminated (Table 11). Therefore claimed solubility parameter and claimed relative permittivity are deemed to be inherent properties of the surfactant used by Kobata et al. In an event, it is not an inherent properties of the claimed additives, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of this invention made to optimize humidity resistance by selecting additives which improve humidity resistance.

5. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipate by Kondo (U. S. Patent 5,830,568).

Kondo discloses a glass laminate comprising interlayer having aluminum oxide particles with up to 0.2 microns (i.e. up to 200 nanometers) particle size (Claim13). Kondo also disclose particles of silicon oxide, zirconium oxide etc. (Col. 3, lines 11-18 and col. 4, lines 13-34).

6. Receipt of Information Disclosure Statements filed March 07, 2006 and May 31, 2006 is acknowledged. The references recited on PTOL 1449 dated March 07, 2006 have been crossed-out since those references are recited on PTOL 1449 dated May 31, 2006 to prevent duplicate recitation on the patent issued from this application.
